

Tips, Tricks, and Did You Knows?

-Getting Ready to Read: Print Awareness is noticing print, knowing how to handle a book, and knowing how to follow the written words on a page. Print is all around us. Point it out to your little one.

-Reading Activity for Baby: When you pick a board book to share with your child, occasionally point to the title as you read it and point to words that match the pictures throughout the story.

-Toddler Reading Activity: As you make lists or write notes, give your child a crayon and paper and let her make a list or write a note, too.

-Tip: Let your child see that you can find things to read everywhere. As you go about your day, read cereal boxes, food jars, or stop signs. Point to the words and pictures.
